RED DEVIL FOOTBALL UPDATE - 1970 - 1986

BY W. J. GOBRECHT, FORMER HEAD FOOTBALL
COACH AND ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION, DICKINSON COLLEGE

Another year has come and gone. This is the first of three sports updates to be published. Lacrosse and basketball were completed. Other educational items include: The 1986 Dickinson College yearbook, which was recently published in soft cover, and the Dickinson College yearbook.

Because of the problems in getting the 1970-1971 yearbook published, it is decided to date the beginning of the year 1970-1986. The season, the coaches, the records and the players for the softball, soccer, basketball, and football Athletics Director held to his word.

Any errors made in this update, or any other, the author's responsibility and it is assumed contained within the original yearbooks of each school. The original history books were left out of this update, and the 1970-1986 compilation of the yearbooks has the most up-to-date information.

FOREWARD

In the Spring semester of 1969, I was able to secure a sabbatical leave from Dickinson for the purpose, in part, to write a narrative history of Dickinson football from 1885 to 1969. Upon the completion of all the statistics and year by year accounts, the hard cover book was published by the Kerr Printing Company in Chambersburg. "The Dickinsonian" under the able leadership of editor Neal Abrahams, set all the camera ready type. This was the first of three sports histories to be completed. Lacrosse and basketball were completed as part of other sabbatical leave projects. The latter two were recently published in soft cover form by the Dickinson College Service Center.

Because of the prodding by many of the post 1970 varsity football players, I decided to update the on going football story to include the 1986 season. The covers for this update and the previous two soft cover publications were designed by Athletics Director David L. Watkins.

Any errors that occur in this update are solely the author's responsibility since all the material contained within are from his football records of each season. In the original history there was a listing of records before and after 1912. This update history combines both sections into one overall inclusive record.

the new decade began. Gobrecht started his eleventh year and the football team was still intact. It also brought forth a hope that a return to the 1970s would be in the offing. The 23 lettermen returned.

After a 1-10 record in the 1983 and 1984 seasons, the 1985 team had the Dickinson football community in high hopes for a return to early season successes.

In the season opening opener against Lebanon Valley, the Red Devils started very slowly, trailing 0-16 at the beginning of the fourth quarter. Wilson rallied the hapless offense as they produced 19 unanswered points. With seven seconds to go the clock, LV kicked a game ending field goal to finish the contest 19-19, a deadlock.

Winning the next two games against Shippensburg and Kutztown, the Devils had their first pair of wins in Lancaster. The Diplomat victory was to be the last of wins that extended to and included seventeen. Another tradition in these contests is the Copestoga Wagon Trophy which is awarded to the winner. Since 1970 the trophy has remained at DL. Wilson found his team could not move the ball on the ground against the tough Pelt defense. He took to the airways. As the fourth quarter began the Devils were down 14-10. At that point the Pelt picked off an errant Wilson pass and returned with just 10 seconds to turn the ball game in DL's favor.

As the season progressed, injuries to key performers took their toll. The last two games remained as they finished the year 2-9-1. In the final game of the year, the four straight losses was a hard pill to swallow.

In the eleventh year, Jim Wilson finished his career holding 6 passing records. John Vett received a $7000 PGM post graduate scholarship, and was twice reported as an Academic All American for the second consecutive year. In addition to losing nice seniors, both track coach Jack Curran and football coach Bob Marshall left the program. Both would be tough to replace. Curran returned to high school coaching in Hanover, and Marshall started private business.

As the new decade began, Gobrecht started his eleventh year and the sixth as head coach at his alma mater. It also brought forth a hope that a permanent winning era could be firmly established. With 23 lettermen returning from a 4 - 4 rebuilding year, prospects were never brighter. Senior Tri-Captain and quarterback, Joe Wilson, led the team in early season successes. The 2 - 0 - 1 log at mid-season had the Dickinson football community in an exciting mood.

In the homecoming opener against Lebanon Valley, the Red Devils started very slowly. Down 0 - 16 at the beginning of the fourth quarter, Wilson rallied the sluggish offense as they produced 19 unanswered points. With seven seconds on the clock, LV kicked a game ending field goal to finish the contest in a 19 - 19 deadlock.

Winning the next two games against Swarthmore and Haverford, the Devils had their annual pivotal F&M game in Lancaster. The Diplomat victory was to begin an unbroken streak of wins that extended to and included seventeen through 1986. At stake in these contests is the Conestoga Wagon Trophy which is presented to the winner. Since 1970 the trophy has remained at F&M. Wilson found that he could not move the ball on the ground against the tough F&M defense. He took to the airways. As the fourth quarter began the Devils were down 7 - 12. At that point the Dips picked off an errant Wilson pass and returned it 85 yards to turn the ball game in F&M's favor.

As the season progressed, injuries to key performers took their toll. The Red Devils never recovered as they finished the year 2 - 4 - 1. Competitive in every game, the four straight losses was a hard pill to swallow.

On the bright side, Joe Wilson finished his career holding 6 passing records. Tri-Captain John West received a $1000 NCAA post graduate scholarship, and Dave Margolis repeated as an Academic All American for the second consecutive year. In addition to losing nine seniors, both back coach Jack Connor and line coach Bob Marshall left the program. Both would be tough to replace. Connor returned to high school coaching in Hanover, and Marshall entered private business.

The 1971 start of three contests and three favorable decisions was the exact repeat of the previous season. Of course, the next game with F&M would prove to be pivotal, again. Winning the first three games with a solid defense and a capable offense led by sophomore Jeff Truskey, the Red Devils sustained a crunching 0 - 34 loss to F&M. Truskey sustained a shoulder separation in the second game and defensive safety and leader Jim Slobozien was lost for the season with a broken back. This set the tone for a down hill slide because the season ended with five straight losses. Although the Devils were competitive, victory was denied them each time. One game in particular was tough to lose and that was against the Ursinus Bears. Rated a toss up, the chances for winning were lessened because Coach Gobrecht had to suspend five starters for team rule violations. The young and inexperienced replacements played well but were no match for the Bear regulars as the Devils dropped the game 12 - 20. One bright spot was the return of Jeff Truskey to early season form.

The final contest against the Hopkins Blue Jays was one of the most exciting of the year as the Baltimore based team scored in the final fourteen seconds to nose out the Devils 28 - 29. Because of injuries and spotty play by the veterans, 40 out of 42 squad members lettered. The entire year was one of those "what if" campaigns. One good result was the fact that only five seniors would graduate.

In 1973, the College embarked upon its 200th anniversary celebration and the football team wore commemorative patches on their uniforms that season. The patch was designed by Dennis Akin, Chairman of the Fine Arts Department. The bright side of the season was the return of junior quarterback Truskey and his battery mate, Mark Lipstein. The two would combine for many passing records as the season unfolded. Once, again, the Devils approached the F&M game in Lancaster with an undefeated record, 3 - 0. Once again, the Dips derailed the Devils. Both teams were undefeated and shared first place in the MAC-South. The Conestoga Wagon was, again, at stake. Lipstein had an outstanding day as he caught 12 passes in the contest. Although close throughout the game, it was all down hill for the Devils as safety Jim Newcomer was charged with pass interference at the two on a pass that was clearly over thrown. F&M used that game as a spring board to win their second straight MAC-South championship.

After a good win over the Mules of Muhlenberg, the Devils came up short in the mud at Georgetown, 0 - 14. Games with Ursinus and Johns Hopkins ended a .500 campaign for the Devils who succumbed to both rivals in away contests. The Devils finished a respectable 5th in the eleven team MAC-South with a 4 - 3 log. The second half let down was a major factor in the four losses and of course the ever present problem with injuries, depth, and size did not diminish as the season progressed. Pound for pound the squad was the equal of any opponent on their schedule.

Senior receiver Mark Lipstein completed an outstanding career. A three year starter at wide receiver, Mark broke many records one of which was 31 years old. He caught passes for 685 yards in one season that broke the one set in 1941 by the legendary Len Supulski. His accomplishments are listed in the season's summary.

Another major happening of the past season was the dropping of inter-collegiate football at Haverford College. The Fords were to be homecoming fare for the Red Devils. The Scranton University Club team was quickly inserted in the schedule. The coal cracklers proved to be no match for the more experienced Dickinson squad.

In January 1973, Dickinson made big headlines in the NCAA world. Basketball athlete, John D. Hopper, was named to receive their Silver Anniversary Award. This award is presented to five finalists each year upon the 25th anniversary of their graduation from college. These five former student-athletes achieved distinction as athletes while in college and later in their chosen careers as graduates. Hopper had been an All State selection at Dickinson in basketball and captained both basketball and golf teams. Upon graduation he entered law school and pursued a career in the insurance business after his law degree. He received the prestigious award at the Palmer House in Chicago at the annual NCAA Honors luncheon. Athletics Director David B. Eavenson and Head Football Coach W. J. Gobrecht were in attendance along with Hopper's wife Ann.

As the 1973 season approached, the biggest loss would be that of Mark Lipstein who had set a host of receiving marks. Of course, Jeff Truskey would return for his third year as starting quarterback. Jeff was also closing in on many career passing records. However, he would need to find a new battery mate. Depth as usual was the watch word and keeping the regulars healthy, a foremost responsibility. One good feature of the new season was the addition of some quality freshmen to the squad. The Red Devils were 1 - 0 - 1 and then disaster struck. New opponent Widener, formerly PMC, was beginning their rise to national prominence. They quickly demolished the Devils 8 - 33 in Chester. Then perennial tormentor F&M continued the assault with a 16 - 37 pasting. Any hopes at this stage of the season faded with injuries and even lower morale. The Muhlenberg contest, however, went right down to the wire. The Devils scored with three seconds remaining in the contest and they went for the two point conversion and the win. But the pass for the conversion was intercepted by the Mules defense. Following a loss to Western Maryland, the Ursinus Bears were in the same shoes as the Red Devils were with Muhlenberg. Instead of going for the win, the Bears kicked the point to tie the game with about a minute remaining on the clock. The listless Devils ended the frustrating season in Carlisle against Johns Hopkins and the Blue Jays prevailed 7 - 20.

One bright spot in the campaign was that Truskey set four career passing marks. He also found a new battery mate in freshman Bernie Driscoll who showed great future potential before being sidelined with a season ending injury in the Ursinus contest. Jerry Urich had a fantastic year returning kick-offs and carrying the ball. Punter John Colburn, although injured in the Widener game, received All MAC-South honors as a first team punter.

Unknownly, the frustrations of the past year led to a winning 1974 season. The trials and tribulations of the entire team plus the leadership of Tri-Captains Jerry Urich, Jim Newcomer, and Chris Fleming combined for a winning record. The big factor was that the offense scored 205 points. This was the best offensive showing since the 1965, 7 - 1, team scored 223 points. The reason for the turn around offensively was the fact that offensive coordinator Hal Price had spent a lot of time with the Widener coaching staff led by head coach Bill Manlove. Price adapted their twin veer offense to the Red Devil material. Thus after the season was over, 36 new school records were established. After a season opening loss to Moravian in Bethlehem, the new offense got untracked to defeat LV and Swarthmore. Then followed three wild and wooly games with Widener, F&M, and Muhlenberg. The first two ended in defeat while Dickinson won the latter with a 39 - 33 score. With back to back wins over Western Maryland and Ursinus, the Devils went into the Hopkins game with a 5 - 3 log. Although Hopkins defeated the Devils in an upset in Baltimore, the 5 - 4 record was the first winning campaign since 1966.

The new offense was engineered by Don Johnson at quarterback and showcased the fine running of Jerry Urich, Jim Gerlach, and George Washington. The line contributed excellent blocking up front and was anchored by Chris Fleming at center, Greg Alex and John Misciagna at guards, Mark Holencik and Jim Reilly at tackles, and Stan Wolowski at tight end. The bulk of the receiving was handled by Bernie Driscoll and freshman slotback Mario Shannon. The defense was led by Jim Newcomer, Craig Bornholm, Brian Pirilla, Gary Meili, Mike Yazvac, and a whole host of others.

The MAC-South honored many of the above players and Coach Gobrecht was accorded co-coach of the year award with Widener's Bill Manlove. Jerry Urich was selected to the Academic All American first team and received the NCAA post-graduate $1000 scholarship award. The records and honors are listed in season's summary.

1975 looked like the year for the Red Devils to assert themselves. But as the season unfolded, injuries and turnovers plagued the experienced squad. The return of quarterback Johnson, All MAC-South running back Jim Gerlach, tackle Jim Reilly, co-captains Greg Alex and Craig Bornholm, wide receiver Driscoll, sophomore backs Washington and Shannon, defensive stalwarts Pete De-Baun, Javier Worthington, Gary Meili, and others comprised a formidable team. Of course the opponents had a year to think about how to stop the twin veer that surprised them last year. The point production turned out to be the biggest difference because the Devils scored 50 points less than 1974. The 3 - 5 - 1 record was a huge disappointment considering the large number of returning starters. A few breaks here and there could have easily turned the year to the plus side of the ledger.

The Muhlenberg game was a good example of the above statement. It turned out as an repeat of last year's game. The Devils scored with about a minute to go and again deceided to go for the win with a two point attempt. Quarterback Lanny Johnson fumbled the ball on the attempt and the Mules had their second close win over the frustrated Devils in Allentown. The final two games against Ursinus and Johns Hopkins were a small vindication to the tough middle part of the schedule. One keynote was the fact that 19 of the 22 starters would return. The only question was could the interior blocking positions left vacant by co-captain Greg Alex and John Misciagna be filled. Also, could a new quarterback take the place of record setter Don Johnson. But the real problem throughout the season was that injuries kept at least 16 starters from participating in at least one game or more.

After four straight titles, F&M lost their crown to Widener, who for the past several years, was nipping at the Diplomats heels. Bernie Driscoll and kicker Stu Goldman had banner years as both set or tied new marks. Widener entered the post-season Division III tournament and advanced to the semi-final round.

In 1976, the Devils began the worst start in eight years before they finally got on the plus side of the ledger with a convincing win over the Garnet of Swarthmore. The stage was now set for one of the greatest upsets in Dickinson history over nationally ranked Widener. Sporting a regular season win skein of 15 games, the Pioneers visited Biddle Field for a Parents Day battle. Widener figured on another "ho hum" game. But, what they ran into was a buzz saw. Dickinson scored first on a Steve Hoffman field goal and eventually were up 17 - 0 in the fourth quarter before Widener was able to score a point. Widener was a master of the twin veer offense which tells you where they are attacking. Then, they dare you to stop them. Of course, the Red Devils stuffed their running game and when they took to the air it was too late. After the game, Coach Manlove stated that they hadn't planned to pass at all. It had rained all day Friday and much of Saturday morning which was not conducive to the passing game. Over confidence and a hot Dickinson team spelled victory for the Red Devils. It evened the season record at 2 - 2.

The following week, the Dickinson met another undefeated F&M squad. This pivotal game found the Devils giving another great effort only to succumb in the final quarter, 17 - 27. The Widener game had taken its toll physically. Then, too, there were some mistakes that hurt the Dickinson cause. A real let down occurred the following week against Muhlenberg as the Mules prevailed. Following two wins over Western Maryland and Ursinus, the Devils hit rock bottom in one of the worst officiated games at Hopkins' Homewood Field. This game had to rank with the Lebanon Valley game back in 1961 as perhaps the greatest injustice to the rules of football. Better than 200 yards were assessed against the Devils with at least 160 yards actually stepped off. With a first and ten on the Hopkins 32 following an on sides kick recovery and one series already run, the officials took over the game with three straight calls against the Devils. The score at that point was 29 - 31 and Dickinson was in position for at least a field goal attempt as the fourth quarter was winding down. The ball eventually ended up on the Dickinson one yard line with a 2nd and 57 yards to go for a first down.

The frustrated Red Devils lost their composure as the Blue Jays intercepted a desperation pass for a td and put the game out of reach. On the extra point try a scuffle broke out but was quickly calmed. Then, an injured player for Hopkins who was not dressed for the game got into a verbal battle with Bernie Driscoll and Lanny Johnson. A full scale donnybrook ensued. At that point Coach Gobrecht told the officials to end the game with about a minute to go. One amusing story evolved from the confrontation. Cal Shields, Devil center, moved immediately to the locker room. He had sensed that the game was over and he wasn't going to hang around the field. Most of the squad was now headed to the locker room just as Cal was showered and dressed. As he emerged from the dressing room in his street clothes, Cal encountered a hot dog vendor from Hopkins. He took exception to his remarks and proceeded to have him pinned against the gym wall. It was a disappointing ending to the season. The 4 - 5 record was discouraging but, again, a few breaks here and there would have made a difference. Again you might term this a "what if" year.

No less than five Red Devils received ALL MAC-South recognition. They are listed in the season summary. Tight end Stan Wolowski was selected to the second team Academic All American.

One of the by products of the past season was the outstanding record accomplished in 1977. With the addition of defensive coordinator Ray Erney from Mechanicsburg High School, the Devil defense took on a new look and pride. The 6 - 2 - 1 season was the best since 1965 and it was the first time since 1969 that the Red Devils outscored their opponents, 126 - 105. The defense led the way during the season.

As in the past, the Red Devils approached the pivotal F&M game undefeated and sporting a 4 - 0 log. The Conestoga Wagon was at stake again. One minor point must be made clear at this point. Although Dickinson knocked Widener from the championship last year, the MAC-South had been basically a two team race for the past four years. F&M and Widener usually decided the crown when they played each other. Playing Widener and F&M back to back made it extremely difficult to play Muhlenberg on even terms. Usually a let down occurred in the Mule game. Now, Gettysburg was joining the MAC-South and that brought to eleven the number of teams in the South Division. Therefore, a new schedule alignment would have to take place. The conference assigned each team six traditional opponents that they would always play. The other four teams would be floater teams. Every four years your opponents would change with the floater teams. The Dickinson floater teams were Widener, Hopkins, Moravian, and Western Maryland. Two of those four would be played on a four year basis and then the other two would take their place in the next four year cycle. Widener was the first one to go off the schedule to be followed by Hopkins.

This season Widener and F&M would not have to be played back to back and that was indeed a break for the Red Devils. The F&M game on Parents Day proved to be the best effort since the Widener upset in 1976. Both teams were undefeated and both shared first place in the MAC-South. But, turnovers and missed opportunities spelled defeat in a close 21 - 24 game. The emotional drain had taken its toll as the Devils travelled to Allentown to play the Mules. The 0 - 21 result could not really be explained but an article in the November 1977 "Dickinson Alumnus" magazine by last year's co-captain Jim Reilly put the season up to that point in proper perspective. The following is a reprint of that article:

PAPER BATTLES AND HUMAN VICTORIES

Jim Reilly

Sports are funny. Logically the team entering a game with the best statistics should win. The final result should be the same as answering a math problem: the team that has consistently gained the most yards, allowed the fewest yards to be gained against it, and has the best past won-lost record should emerge victorious.

The equation is as simple as two plus two equals four. Only, sometimes the answer comes out three and the team that looked so good on paper loses. Paper victories just do not stand up in a real contest. As a wise old coach once said, "Statistics don't win games; people do."

It is that human element that makes sports exciting. This year, Dickinson has a very human, spirited, and exciting football team. Entering its first two games, the football team had lost the statistical paper battle. The Red Devils were estimated as 20 point underdogs to a continually tough Moravian team. However, as I said, that was on paper!

For the first time in five years Dickinson won the opening football game by defeating Lycoming College 7-3. Gaining momentum from the victory, Dickinson went on to trounce Moravian College 18-0. Hopefully the team will be able to continue these winning ways.

This year's team is full of stories of dedication and determination. Coming into the season, the phrases used to describe the team were, "small in both size and number," and "inexperienced." These phrases are still accurate, but what the squad lacks in size, number, and experience, is more than compensated for by a large dose of spirit.

Sophomore offensive guard Jay Steinman is a perfect example of the type of spirit that I am talking about. As a freshman, Steinman saw little playing time. Some of the reasons he did not play were because he is only 5'10" tall, weighs 180 pounds, and because he suffered a separated shoulder in high school.

Realistically Steinman knew that he could do little to increase his size and weight, but he knew he could improve his shoulder. To that end, Steinman had his shoulder operated on over Christmas vacation. He later used his summer vacation to strengthen his shoulder by lifting weights and exercising. Currently Steinman is starting at offensive right guard and is doing a good job. In a game situation, it is not unusual for him to face a defensive tackle who is 40 or more pounds his superior.

Lack of playing experience was also a team concern. This year, juniors Paul Saucier and Lloyd Shaffer are starting as defensive tackles. Shaffer had had limited playing experience, but Saucier had never before played defensive tackle. In fact, Saucier sat out last year's entire season.

So far, the coach's worry over lack of experience has proved to be no worry at all. In Saucier's first outing, he distinguished himself by sacking the quarterback a few times and earning the Red Devil award for outstanding play by a lineman.

With two games under their belts, Shaffer and Saucier have combined to completely shut down the other team's rushing attack and on more than one occasion they have caused a confused quarterback to hurry his pass. I might also add that the entire Dickinson defense has been spectacular.

Contrary to what you believe, sports are not all work and concentration. The rigors of summer camp must be paced with some humor. During this year's camp, Mark Gorscak, starting offensive center, broke the tedium by announcing his candidacy for the Heisman Trophy. The rugged, six-foot, 195-pound junior signed a few autographs and enlisted some team members to act as his press secretaries.

To date, no votes have been cast for Gorscak, but the boys are still trying. The phrase of the day has been, "Gorscak for Heisman, of Gorse." A balance between levity and seriousness must exist if a team is to survive and this team has that balance.

I cannot say enough for the total commitment team members demonstrate to each other and to the game. Seniors Washington, Johnson, Shannon, Miller, Yazvac, Fahey, Dowell, and Worthington add experience and leadership to the young team.

Worthington, Jonson, Yazvac, and Miller know their way around on defense. All four men can truly be characterized as smart, hard-hitting players. Washington, Shannon, Dowell, and Fahey play a similar roll on offense. The first three players add quickness, speed, agility, and a scoring threat, both on the ground and in the air, to the team. Captain Jack Fahey is recognized as the total leader of the team.

In recent seasons, Wilbur "Goby" Gobrecht has had to play the role of "good" loser more often than he wanted. This was not easy for a head coach who wants to win and Goby wants to win. In Dickinson's victory over Moravian, Goby had the chance to run up the score. The Red Devil's were in complete control of the game. Instead of running up the score, Goby put in his second unit.

In the past, other colleges have not treated Dickinson as fairly and with as much class. I, for one, am very proud that Coach Gobrecht is representing Dickinson College. With the victory over Moravian, Goby proved that he is truly a "class" coach.

A winning season always sharpens and expands the recognition given to a team. I hope that the Dickinson Red Devils have that winning season; they want it and they deserve it. If everything, however, does not go their way, you should recall with pride the individuals and their personal victories. In the end, it is the individual who really counts.

By virtue of a 4-0 winning streak, the Red Devils went as high as second in the Lambert Bowl rankings of Division III Eastern colleges. The record now is 4-2 (as of October 24) with three games remaining.

Western Maryland and Ursinus became the next victims as the Devils rebounded to record six wins. The final game versus Hopkins was to be a grudge match. The squad wanted to avenge last year's fiasco. Off to a fast 20 - 6 half time advantage, the Blue Jays bounced back in the second half to tie the score 20 - 20. Driving late in the fourth quarter for the go ahead td, Hopkins had the ball with a first and goal to go at the five yard line with about a minute left on the clock. A great Devil goal line stand ended with Hopkins fumbling the ball into the end zone on fourth and inches. Tony Cugini, Dickinson linebacker, met the Hopkins hurdling full-back in the hole at the line of scrimmage on the crucial fourth and inches. This preserved the 20 - 20 tie. However, the game ended early again as hot heads on both sides created a melee with just seconds to go. The game was called to a halt for the second consecutive year before the final seconds ticked off.

As mentioned in the above article by Reilly, it was a season of team work, sacrifice, determination, and no major injuries to starters. With only six offensive interior linemen available, it was a blessing that no one lost playing time. The Western Maryland game provided the Red Devils with their 300th intercollegiate win since 1885. The 5 - 2 - 1 MAC-South record enabled the Devils to finish third behind powers F&M and eventual NCAA Division III national champion, Widener. The third place finish was the highest since the second place finish in 1965.

With the loss of only four key starters, prospects were great for 1978. The 3 - 5 - 1 record reflected the change of attitude from one of "all for one and one for all" to "me, myself, and I". Team work never really permeated the entire squad. Inspite of the attitude, the squad got off to a 3 - 0 - 1 start including an upset of highly regarded and over confident Gettysburg Bullets. It was Coach Gobrecht's 50th career intercollegiate win. It was especially sweet because Gettysburg had joined the conference after they opted to drop their level of competition from NCAA I-AA to Division III in the early 1970's. Although they joined the MAC-South in football at that time, not many teams could immediately schedule them because of other commitments. This was a renewal of a long standing rivalry that had rarely been played since WWII. They were a Division III program with vestiges of a I-AA program.

Another feature of the renewal was that both teams played for a trophy called the "Brown Bucket". This trophy was donated by Gettysburg trustee George Hummel and Dickinson trustee S. Walter Stauffer to promote good sportsmanship between the two institutions. It was vied for on Thanksgiving Day in 1938. Although there were not many playing dates between then and 1978, Dickinson had never won possession of the trophy until the renewal of the series.

The five remaining games, while close, resulted in five straight losses. Depth as usual was a factor along with some major losses due to injuries. "Jack of all trades", Steve Hoffman proved to be more than an adequate replacement for the departed Stu Goldman in the kicking department. As a wide receiver, Hoffman garnered All MAC-South first team honors for his outstanding play. Defensive tackle, Paul Saucier, also received first team honors.

The 1979 outlook did not appear to be very promising. It definitely would be a total rebuilding year. Only tough running back Scott Mumma would return at tailback. Although Steve Hoffman was returning for his fourth and final year, he was playing his fourth position in as many years. By mid-season, injuries and lack of experienced replacements took their toll. After the opening win over Moravian, eight straight losses followed. Some losses were close and some were blowouts. Mumma and Hoffman lived up to their advanced notices. However, Hoffman received an ankle injury at mid-season and it greatly affected his play the rest of the season. In the last game against Lycoming, Hoffman tried to break a long time kicking record left-footed. He failed to kick the field goal as Lycoming shut out the Devils.

It was a sobering season and resulted in Gobrecht evaluating his future as the Red Devil mentor. There now were no full time assistants and trying to recruit future athletes alone became an endless chore. Feeling that the program needed new direction and new blood, he resigned immediately after the Lycoming debacle. Ironically, trainer Bruce Vogelson retired at the same time after being the head trainer since 1963.

Gobrecht's fifteen year record was 51 - 67 - 7 for a .436 percentage. His MAC-South log during the same time was 38 - 50 - 5 for a .435 percentage. He had served as head coach more than twice as long as any other coach in the college's history. Only Arthur D. Kahler and Ralph R. Ricker had better career records since 1921. Considering that Kahler only coached for seven years and Ricker for four years, Gobrecht's fifteen years record gives you some idea that his program was always competitive. The depth problem, high academic requirements for admission, and the financial aid packages were some of the problems that a new coach would have to overcome in order to be more competitive. A much larger pool of athletes was needed to insure a new rebirth of Red Devil football.

Athletics, in general, was given a big boost with the construction of a gymnasium complex just Northeast of Biddle Field on the old railroad property. Designed by Daniel F. Tully Associates, Inc. of Boston, the 4.2 million dollar Kline Life/Sports Learning Center was completed in September 1980. The new Kline Center would replace Alumni Gymnasium that was in use since 1929.

However, unknown to Gobrecht, he was called back for an encore in 1984. Ray Erney, Gobrecht's successor, accepted a position as head football coach at Carlisle High School. His July resignation left little time for the college to seek a replacement. The administration approached Gobrecht to serve as interim coach for one year. One stipulation Gobrecht had before he consented was the need for an adequate interim staff. The key to Gobrecht's decision amounted to the retaining of Mark Gorscak, a member of Erney's staff. Mark was a former Devil center and more recently an administrative assistant to the Athletics Director Dave Watkins. Mark coached as an additional duty. He had been accepted to graduate school at St. Thomas of Villanova in Florida. Mark agreed to postpone his graduate studies for one year to aid the interim staff. He officially was assistant head coach and offensive coordinator. He served as chief recruiter until another coach was hired. With Mark's knowledge of the personnel and the rest of the staff gathered, the staff got down to business with fall camp just around the corner.

It was a repeat of former years for Gobrecht and his staff. There were excellent front line troops but beyond the starters there was too much inexperience and lack of size. Although fall camp was one of hustle and hard work by the players and coaches, the results were much the same as the team went through the motions in a lack luster 1 - 9 season. The one high-light was an impressive win over the Georgetown Hoyas in Washington, D. C. By mid-season, injuries and the depth problem asserted themselves. Everyone now only talked about the search for a new coach and a new direction. Meantime, the coaches and the players were dying a little more each week. The squad never gave up as they still plugged away.

The Red Devils finished last in the two year old Centennial Conference with a 0 - 7 record. The scoring statistics told the tale as the Devils scored only 47 points to their opponents 292 in league play. One bright spot was the selection of wide receiver Tom Cook to the first team All Centennial Conference. He caught a record 53 passes to break the legendary Len Supulski's 48 set in 1941. His battery mate, Stan Abromavage, quarterback, finished his third year as a starter by owning every career passing record but one. That record was most td passes thrown. He was sure to break that record in his senior year.

The way was now open for a new coach, a new approach, and a new beginning for Dickinson football that was getting ready to celebrate its 100th year of playing the great game in 1985. Former "Dickinsonian" sports editor, Chris Kennedy, '85 was working for the publicity department at Dickinson. He wrote an excellent article in "Dickinson Today", March 1985, that sums up the feeling by many of the followers of the Red and White concerning football. The following is a reprint of that article:

Respect, not wins, Seen essential

Chris Kennedy '85

Respect has always been a very important word. It is rarely spoken, but it never fails to make its presence felt. In the next few years, respect should be an especially important word in judging the success of the College football team.

Winning has long been the most common, most attractive measuring stick to rate how well a team is performing. It, however, is not the only reflection of success and, for the foreseeable future, it will be neither an accurate nor a fair indicator for Dickinson football.

Most of the College faithful know that the Devils have struggled on the field for some time. In the last six years, the team has hit rock bottom—averaging only one win a year. The times have been so hard that Dickinson is no longer just a weak team; it is one that lacks respect from its opponents, its campus community, and anyone else who is familiar with the team's week-in, week-out performance.

Such a reputation cannot help but affect the team it follows. It is true that few squads come into a game with less talent than Dickinson, but rarely are the Devils even able to do the things well that are within the limitations of their personnel.

There is just enough confidence on the Devil sideline to ensure that anything that could go right, will go wrong.

That feeling demonstrates the team's lack of self-respect. Not only does this psychological albatross eliminate any real possibility of winning, it also threatens the more important aspects of the role of sports at an academic-minded institution like Dickinson. Self-improvement, discipline, and determination are just a few of those elements.

Faced with these problems, there are two clear, diametrically opposed choices. The first is to end the program. The second is to revitalize it. With the recent hiring of Ed Sweeney as football coach, Dickinson has committed itself to the latter.

Still, it is likely that if Sweeney fails to improve the Devils' record, pressure will increase to drop football from the College's intercollegiate schedule. Although that threat has been fended off for now, the possibility of its reemergence can only put added pressure on the incoming coach to produce an improved record—some concrete evidence of success.

Unfortunately, future teams will be hard pressed to provide that evidence; the path to a better win-loss mark is cluttered with immovable obstacles. The development of a more talented team would lead to more wins and remove all basis for criticism. The present Dickinson environment, however, does not bode well for that development.

Most significantly, Dickinson is an expensive school which cannot boast the quality football teams of many of its conference and geographical rivals. For example, the two institutions most closely associated in people's minds with Dickinson, Franklin and Marshall and Gettysburg Colleges, are solid academic schools with highly successful football teams.

A good number of serious football candidates (the ones that want football to be a significant part of their college experience) are eliminated by Dickinson's academic standards. The best of those that remain are drawn to the football programs with excellent reputations or at least to those that do not have poor ones.

The easiest solution to the recruiting problem is one that no wants to see or likely ever will see. Any breach in the admissions standards to 'give a break' to football prospects would be unfair to everyone, especially those unprepared student-athletes who were aided in the admissions process by their prowess on the field.

To make matters worse, there are very few things that can be done to alter this situation. Steps might be taken to ensure that the financial aid packages Dickinson offers athletes are competitive as well as fair. Also, students with good football credentials could be viewed as slightly stronger candidates because they offer qualities which improve a weak area of the College in a manner which would be beneficial to Dickinson as an institution.

The fact remains, however, that Dickinson cannot do much to improve its current football recruiting prospects. The few options that are available involve very delicate areas and slight adjustments rather than easy, wholesale changes. True, a good recruiting year under these conditions is possible, but consistently good freshmen football classes are unlikely. And with the quick recruitment of better players out of reach, so is a substantial change in the team's record. Some other gauge must be used to check the progress of the team.

The level of respect the Devils earn in the next few years would be an appropriate measure of their progress. The present lack of respect that engulfs the team curtails the positive effects of a student's participation on an athletic team. Right now, an opportunity to learn and to enjoy has been replaced by the demands of frustration.

There is only one way to increase respect for Dickinson football and that involves taking great care to stress the fundamentals. Those fundamentals include blocking and tackling, but they also include pride, discipline, and fun.

Such an emphasis would concentrate on how well Dickinson does things which are within its limitations and how much the team improves from one Saturday to the next. This attitude will not produce a great flood of victories, but it will help the Devils play up to their fullest capabilities. Furthermore, it also is an attitude which ensures that the most basic goal of a Dickinson athletic program, a chance to compete on a team in a positive atmosphere, will be preserved.

This does not mean that the team should enter any season anticipating a losing record or any game expecting to be defeated. It simply means that the prospects for the progress of football at Dickinson should be viewed realistically and that the team's relative success should be measured in relation to what it can accomplish. This type of environment will give the team the opportunity to earn respect from its opponents, from its fans, and, most importantly, from itself.

Some will say this atmosphere is easily created by starting from scratch with a new coach, but it has been a characteristic which has eluded Dickinson football for the last few years. In those years, the constant pressure from all sides to reverse the fortunes of the Devils and produce victories prevented proper emphasis from being placed on improving the team one step at a time.

This approach might not be the most attractive, and it might not please those who want only to quickly erase the embarrassments of the last few seasons. It is, however, the one approach that will provide a true testing ground for the progress of the program.

Barring any unforeseen events, Ed Sweeney will be given three or four years of relative peace to do his rebuilding. At the end of that time, the reviews of the job he has done will come. If they are based only on whether or not Sweeney has turned Dickinson into a team with a much better record, then those assessments will most likely be negative. It is the critics themselves, however, who will be at fault; for they will be guilty of failing to view the circumstances of Dickinson football realistically. □

Season Hi-Lites

The Western Maryland win was number 300 for Dickinson since 1885

Won the first four games and almost upset F&M, the defending champions, in the fifth game before succumbing 21 - 24.

Defense was outstanding all season long with three super goal line stands.

Coach Ray Erney, the defensive coordinator, instilled great pride and in the Hopkins game it shined forth. With the score tied, Hopkins had the ball 1st and goal on the five in the closing seconds of the game. On fourth and inches, linebacker Tony Cugini made a headon crunching tackle in mid-air to preserve the tie. Team play dominated the entire season plus there were no major player losses to injuries throughout the season. Could not afford any injuries because there were only 45 players on the squad. Had only six offensive interior linemen. The only backup was at center.

Best overall record since 1965 - The .722 pct was outstanding.

SEASON HI-LITES

Won the first game vs Moravian and lost 8 in a row. The squad had serious injuries to key ball players by mid-season and never recovered. Steven C. Hoffman and Scott T. Mumma had outstanding individual performances throughout the entire season. Steve broke 5 records and tied one. Scott broke 4 rushing marks in his first season as a tailback. Although an injury to Hoffman's right foot kept him from breaking an all time point record for kicking the ball through the uprights, he booted his last PAT left footed and almost made a long field goal try left footed. He finished with 74 points by kicking to place him second. (First place is 75 points)

THE RAY ERNEY ERA - 1980 - 1983

THE RAY ERNEY ERA - 1980 to 1983

Succeeding Gobrecht at the Red Devil helm was his defensive coordinator Raymond T. Erney. This was the first change in the football command since 1965. Erney had a long career in local school boy athletics. He was a graduate of Harrisburg William Penn High School and Juniata College where he was a star athlete. He began his coaching career at John Harris High as an assistant coach on George Chaump's highly successful football teams. He moved on to head positions at Palmyra, Steelton-Highspire, and Mechanicsburg high schools. He now would leave the athletics directorship at Mechanicsburg to become a full time staff member at the college.

Because there were no full time assistants, Erney virtually was confronted with the same problems that Gobrecht experienced. High academic requirements for admission, no preferential treatment and financial aid just about doomed the new program from the start.

However the problems, Ray won two games in his maiden year. The Gettysburg win on Parents Day was a huge upset as Dickinson beat the Bullets for the second time in the third renewal of the series. The 36 - 21 win enabled the Devils to gain possession of the "Bucket" for only the second time. In fact the win brought the season's record to 2 - 1 - 1 at mid-season. From that point, Erney's tenure was all down hill. Injuries and the traditional pivotal F&M game created a difficult situation. Although the Red Devils were tough in the remaining four games, close only counts in horseshoes and hand grenades.

The finale against Lycoming was one of the most exciting contests in a number of years. The Warriors were coasting along with a comfortable lead in the beginning of the fourth quarter. Then, senior quarterback Hal Hockfield ignited a most unbelievable comeback. When the dust had settled, Lycoming won 37 - 45 but not before Dickinson had set or tied thirteen individual and team records. Hockfield had a most productive day as he completed 29 passes out of 59 attempts for 420 yards. His total offense was 450 for the day. In fact the grand total of 28 individual and team records were set during the season.

Dickinson did not lose that Lycoming encounter, time just ran out. It certainley was a moral victory and an excellent spring board for 1981. Hockfield, on the basis of this game performance and that of the entire year, was named to the Jewish All American Team at quarterback. He gained further honors as the MAC-South selected him as the punter on the first offensive team. Amazingly this was the only year in which he punted for the Devils.

The 1981 squad could not keep the momentum going, however. The team now paid the supreme sacrifice for the coaching change. Very few recruits were gained in 1980 and 1981. Erney had not accepted the coaching change until May which means that he lost the chance to recruit. Then too, his first experience in recruiting was difficult because he had to deal with a whole new concept of trying to entice football athletes to a Division III level. The low point of the entire 1981 season was an inadequate offense that scored exactly 22 points with the high scorer being a kicker with 8 points. Only one touchdown was scored via the run and one passing. This was the lowest figure to date in the history of the sport. The next lowest figure was 26 set in 1892.

Lack of experience, injuries, and starting units that used five or more freshmen created a situation that was tough to overcome. The season was a return to the problems experienced in the late 1920s and late 1950s.

The 1982 season started out with a bang as Johns Hopkins was defeated 14 - 10 in the opener at Biddle Field. The win stopped a 14 game winless skein. The Blue Jays had just returned to the Red Devil schedule after a four year hiatus. The joy over the breaking of the losing streak was short lived. A string of eight straight losses followed. Of course, the three straight shutouts following the Hopkins win contributed to the demise of the Devils. The Erneymen never got untracked. Fortunately for the beleaguered Devils, this year marked the end of the MAC-South as a conference. Dickinson finished dead last in eleventh place. Swarthmore and Widener ended the year as co-champions.

Eight members of the MAC-South, Johns Hopkins, Swarthmore, Muhlenberg, F&M, Gettysburg, Ursinus, Western Maryland, and Dickinson formed the Centennial Football Conference. Owing to the fact that all eight institutions were at least 100 years old, the members felt that they all had common goals academically and athletically. Everyone concerned liked the idea that each school would be in the same recruiting boat. But as the case in all conferences, there are a few schools at the top and the rest would be fighting for the middle positions in the final standings. Those institutions would be F&M, Gettysburg, and occasionally Muhlenberg. The first two had superior programs when the new conference began operations in 1983.

The Devils bounced back with a 2 - 7 record. This was a vast improvement but the Devils finished last in the new conference. The initial championship honors were garnered by Gettysburg, Muhlenberg, and Swarthmore. Erney had lettered fifty one players and the entire outlook for the future was indeed rosy. Then out of the blue Erney resigned in July to accept the head coaching position at Carlisle High School. His four year record was 5 - 30 - 1 for a .152 percentage.

To fill the void on such short notice the College asked former Head Coach W. J. Gobrecht to be interim coach until a new mentor could be found. The 1984 season is chronicled in the previous chapter.

EDWARD F. SWEENEY ERA - 1985 - 1986

In December, 1984, Dickinson President Samuel A. Banks announced the appointment of Ed Sweeney as the new Red Devil coach to replace interim coach W. J. Gobrecht. Sweeney most recently came from Boston University where he was assistant head coach and defensive coordinator. Fortunately, Ed would begin his tenure as Dickinson was going to celebrate 100 years of football. The following article by Sandra Cullen, assistant director of communications, sums up the present position of football on the historic campus:

A 100-year-old tradition

Sandra Cullen

The 1985 Red Devils football team is facing a challenge: Launching a new era of competitiveness in a century-old football tradition.

Dickinson is celebrating its 100th year of football this fall, and along with the festivities befitting such a milestone, a new surge of support is being directed toward rebuilding an aggressive football program. Ed Sweeney, the Red Devils' new head coach, appears to be just the person to turn the team around.

As a seven-year veteran of the coaching staff of the Boston University Terriers, Sweeney played a key role in helping the Terriers end a dismal losing streak and climb to top ranking in the Northeast. He did the same as head coach at St. Sebastian's Country Day School in Newton, Mass., turning a last-place team into an undefeated league champion in just three years.

Sweeney is confident he can do the same for the Red Devils, who came away with just one win last year.

"We still have a long way to go, but we're starting to chip away at the iceberg a little," said Sweeney, who has been working with the upperclass players since coming to Dickinson last January.

Almost as soon as he arrived on campus, Sweeney began making changes. As he saw it, the team lacked discipline; the program needed direction.

The first thing Sweeney did was build a new weight room beneath the Biddle Field grandstand. And along with the new facility came a new and structured weight program for his players, who began working out in scheduled shifts four days a week, devoting two days to the upper body, two days to the lower.

"It's very simple," Sweeney said. "If you line up in front of the man across from you and you're bigger and stronger, chances are you're going to beat him."

Sweeney said the philosophy behind the weight program is twofold: You want your players to wear down their opponents, and you want them to believe in themselves.

"Academics still come first, but at a college like Dickinson, you can keep athletics in perspective, and you can work to be as good as you can be," Sweeney said. "We won't recruit anyone that doesn't meet our academic standards, which means we have to recruit a lot more numbers."

In his first recruiting season, Sweeney started out with 100 interested students. Of those, 72 were accepted and nearly half have enrolled at Dickinson. Sweeney said the results were better than he had hoped. Not one of those rated among the top 25 prospects was lost to a league opponent, and roughly half of those top picks are now playing for the Red Devils.

"I think it's a good class. We have enough of a nucleus, and if we're right on the freshmen coming in, we can be a lot more competitive than we've been," Sweeney said.

"We're going to emphasize playing with emotion," he added. "You've got to play emotional football for 60 minutes, not just the first five minutes. Some kids think you turn it on on Saturday. You don't. It's building. You plant the seed in the off-season."

If Sweeney's success at BU and St. Sebastian's are any gauge, Dickinson should be in line for a strong comeback.

"It's funny," Sweeney said. "The similarities in all three situations are incredible."

There is a pattern to what took place at both St. Sebastian's and BU, Sweeney said, and that pattern already has started to unfold at Dickinson. In all three instances, the football teams were down, and in all three instances, the administration made a commitment to turning things around.

"That's the key," Sweeney said. "If you don't have that commitment, you're paddling against the water."

Included in that commitment is the ability of the head coach to build up an aggressive coaching staff. At Dickinson, Sweeney will be assisted by several former BU and Boston College players and coaches. Improving the weight program, stepping up recruiting efforts, and building positive player attitudes are also woven into the pattern.

"It starts to build confidence," he said. "The players start to see the results, and they start to feel good about themselves."

Sweeney also has had his players make some "sacrifices," like getting up for an hour run at 6:30 a.m. on Wednesdays, 9 a.m. on Saturdays. But he has been careful not to confuse discipline with drudgery.

"Everything has been positive, positive, positive," he said. "I want to draw the players together as a team."

Making his players feel good about themselves as athletes, and having the team present a good image to the community, is important to Sweeney. Last spring, he got all of his players involved in a Sigma Chi card tournament to raise money for charity, and in August, he broke practice so his entire team could greet wheelchair marathoner Mike King, who made a stop on campus during his cross-country tour to assist the disabled. Other activities, including a team blood donation, are planned for the coming year, and Sweeney intends to get out to talk to community and civic groups.

There have been cosmetic changes, too. Both the team locker room and Biddle Field scoreboard have been repainted in the school colors of red and white to reflect a sense of both spirit and pride.

"At BU, 'wearin' the red' became the thing to do," Sweeney said. "When the kids played at home, they didn't think they could be beat."

Upon arriving at Dickinson, Sweeney also was quick to launch a first-class recruiting effort. The result: 35 freshman players hailing from Pennsylvania to Pocatello, Idaho, who will be laying the foundation for the future.

"We approached our recruiting like you do in Division I football, with lots of personal contact. The players felt they were really wanted here," Sweeney said.

"They know that they're coming into a program that's down, and that they're going to have a chance to build it," he added. "Also, they think they might be able to play sooner here than in an established program."

Sweeney found that high school students were extremely receptive to what Dickinson has to offer: The opportunity to play college football while getting a solid liberal arts education.

For St. Sebastian's, it has meant going from a record of just four wins in five years, to records of 3-3-1 in Sweeney's first year there, 5-2 in his second, and 7-0 in his third. It also meant the Independent School League Championship and ISL Coach of the Year honors for Sweeney.

For BU, which had just begun to get back on its feet with the arrival of Camp Hill's Rick Taylor as head coach the year before Sweeney's arrival, it has meant four Yankee Conference titles in the past five years, and a spot in the national Division I-AA playoffs the last three years.

For Dickinson, it can only mean better times on the horizon.

"One thing I learned from Rick Taylor —He voted BU to win the conference every year—You don't go out there unless you expect to win every game," Sweeney said.

As Dickinson celebrates its 100th year of football with Homecoming festivities November 1 and 2, it will look back upon a rich tradition of accomplishment. It will remember individuals such as Frank Mt. Pleasant, a star football player and member of the 1908 U.S. Olympic track team, and teams like the 1937 squad that finished the season without a single loss.

It will remember competing against the legendary Jim Thorpe and his teammates from the Carlisle Indian School. And it will remember defeating the Penn State Nittany Lions in an exciting 1931 upset that riveted national attention on the "little college" in Pennsylvania.

And as it reflects on the triumphs of the past, Dickinson will look to its new coach and his new team in the hope that a fine tradition will live on. □

It did not take long for Coach Sweeney to have the program on the up swing. Although there was only one win to show for his initial season, he did escape the basement in the Centennial Conference by beating Western Maryland in Carlisle. There were only seven seniors on the squad but the football staff was laying the ground work for future campaigns.

Stanley D. Abromavage finished his four year career with every passing record on the books except percentage of completions. He played in a record 35 games as quarterback. The entire listing of all the records are in the season's summary.

The 1986 season was termed by assistant Joel Quattrone as a great beginning and a great ending. The Red Devils beat Marist and Georgetown early and then hit a dry spell until beating Ursinus in Collegeville in the finale. The 4 - 6 log was the best since 1977. The squad had come a long way under Sweeney and his staff. The Devils were 2 - 5 in the conference and finished seventh. The basically young team started an all freshmen backfield and carried only 13 upperclassmen on the roster. (Eight seniors and 5 juniors)

Honorable mention honors went to Thomas S. Hutchinson, offensive line, and Patrick J. Hehir, offensive line. F&M and Muhlenberg shared the conference title. There were 53 freshmen on the squad headed by "Rookie of the Year" award given to three freshmen, quarterbacks, Sean J. Maloney and Ryan A. Balderston, and running back Michael M. Birosak.

In the Marist game, Maloney tied a Red Devil record when he tossed four touchdowns in one game. This was quite a start. Junior Bill Sticka set a career punting record when his total became 150 in two years. This was an old record set by Douglas C. Rehor back in 1941-42; 1946. The Ursinus game was Dickinson all the way and provided a good spring board for the 1987 season.

Although the squad will be young in 1987, much enthusiasm is building for the future of Red Devil football. Giant strides have been made in the past two years as Sweeney's career record shows 5 wins, and 14 losses for a .263 percentage. Coach Sweeney has already started to live up to his reputation as a rebuilder of floundering football programs.

1918 SATC TEAM DOES NOT COUNT IN THE OVERALL RECORD BECAUSE IT WAS AN UNOFFICIAL TEAM THAT REPRESENTED THE COLLEGE.

1923 - B. RUSSELL MURPHY HAD AN 0 - 3 RECORD WHEN HE WAS REMOVED.

JOSEPH LIGHTNER FINISHED THE SEASON WITH A 5 - 2 RECORD.

1885 - 1895 - THE CAPTAIN USUALLY SERVED AS COACH. SOMETIMES AN EARLY SEASON TRAINER WAS HIRED. THE TRAINER CONNOTATED A CONDITIONER AND WAS NOT A COACH IN THE MODERN SENSE.

1964 - Muhlenberg scored on a 68/yd pass play on the first scrimmage attempt but Dickinson came back to win the game 23-14. F&M stopped the undefeated Devils in the 4th game 6-5.

1965 - Best record since 1937 - 7-1-0. Finished 2nd in the MAC South to Swarthmore which was the only team to beat Dickinson 16-12. The Garnet had used an ineligible player in the first three games which the conference did not make them forfeit. Scored a record 223 points on 32 TD's and 22 extra points. Had 14 interceptions and scored 14 TD's on passes and won 6 consecutive games

1966 - Played the entire season with just 5 interior linemen - 2 guards and 3 tackles. Came from behind to beat Haverford (H) and Ursinus (A)

1967 - Came from behind to beat PMC (H) and Muhlenberg (A). But lost three games with scores of 41-0, 52-6, and 52-6 - worst beatings since 1936

1968 - Worst record since 1960 - 1-7

1969 - Dickinson was 4-1 at mid-season only to fold for lack of depth and injuries and finish 4-4. They were also in 1st place in the MAC South at the time

1970 - Undefeated (2-0-1) going into the F&M game only to hit the skids and finish 2-4-1. Behind 16-0 in the Homecoming opener with Lebanon Valley, the offense got going to go ahead 19-16 only to have LV kick a field goal on the last play of the game to tie it up 19-19

1971 - Again, won the first three games only to hit the skids and lose 5 in a row. Only F&M trounced the Devils 34-0. Major injuries hit the squad such as shoulder separation, blowout fracture of the eye, broken back, and a knee completely ripped up. Suspended 6 starters against Ursinus (H) for training rules violations. Lettered 40-42 squad members

1972 - For the fourth year in a row, the Red Devils had a good beginning. After the 5th game, they were 4-1 with three remaining games. Out manned in the last three games, they ended 4-4. Either ahead or even at half-time of three of the four losses, the Red Devils became croppers in the last half surges of her opponents. Lettered 39 out of 47 squad members, with 15 of those 39 being frosh. It was the best year for injuries with only two losses for the year. Haverford dropped football and Dickinson was forced to make a last minute schedule change. Scranton University Club Team was the replacement.

1973 - Played in two tie games. In both cases the opponents both scored with less than  $3\frac{1}{2}$  minutes to go and kicked the point for the eventual tie. In the Muhlenberg game the Red Devils scored with 7 seconds to go and went for two point conversion. The try failed. Lettered 36 out of 53 squad members with 11 of 24 frosh winning their first monograms. A cracked ankle and a head injury were the only mishaps of the season. The worst season since 1968.

1974 - 5 wins and 4 losses was the best and first winning season since 1966. Broke or tied 36 school records and was the best offensive team since 1965. Installed the twin veer offense which was responsible for the breaking of so many offensive records. Another year for few injuries. Lettered 37 of 48 squad members with 9 of 16 frosh winning their first letter. MAC-South admitted Gettysburg to their division. How soon they will compete for championship will depend on scheduling.

1975 - A rather disappointing season with 3-5-1 record. Practically everyone was returning from record breaking year. Two top running backs both sustained shoulder separations in first two games creating some problems with substitutions. After their return, the offensive center and right guard were lost via injuries along with three other starters. Muhlenberg game was a replay of the 1973 game with the same results. After losing four in a row, came back to win the last two.

1976 - The Widener game on Parents week-end was the biggest win in over thirty years. It was their first lost in fifteen regular season games and it cost them the return to the conference championship as well as a repeat post season bid. A season ending win in the Johns Hopkins game could have given the Red Devils a winning season. But contrary to plans the Blue Jays prevailed in the worst officiated game since LV game in 1961. A near riot occurred at the end of the game after nearly 200 yards in penalties had been called with 160 actually stepped off.

1977 - Best season since 1965 with 6 wins, 2 losses, and 1 tie for .722%. Ran Penn State 4 - 4 defense. First total defensive change in over 20 years. Came up with 3 goal line stands of which the last one in the Johns Hopkins game was super. No individual records were established and only one team record was broken. This attests to the total team effort by all squad members. Widener won the South championship as well as the NCAA Division III National Championship. Dickinson is the only MAC team to beat them in the last three years.
